PROGRAM REPORT

“CLINICAL TIPS IN MANAGEMENT OF TRAUMATIC INJURIES TO PRIMARY AND YOUNG PERMANENT TEETH”

Trauma to the primary dentition is common and this can result in pain, loss of function, aesthetic concerns and psychological consequences for the child and his/her family. The main objectives of diagnosis and treatment of traumatic injuries affecting children with primary dentition are pain management and prevention of possible damage to the developing tooth germ.

Dr. Victor Samuel gave an energetic talk on the etiology, prevalence and classification of traumatic injuries to primary dentition. He also gave a comprehensive talk on the various management strategies to be implemented in managing the traumatic injuries to primary dentition without harming the permanent successive tooth germ. The lecture was accompanied by an interactive question and answer session with the students through which the speaker shared his expert opinion and knowledge on the topic.
